MOTO:

A Long Journey Starts With One Step

As I walked through life, I discovered that each new step brings something special to be lived and enjoyed fully. Why did I decide to go into textiles? Weaving takes time. Restoration takes time. The process of weaving and working in fiber slows you down, it is like meditation. With weaving I spend a long hours with myself and learned about myself. I create small intimate views of my surrounding world enhanced with embroidery. It is a beautiful and quite process of self-discovery. I don't know what my next step will be in my artistic expression. Step by step, one after another, and the journey of life. All it takes is to keep walking.
