Scannapieco Family Holdings, Inc. originally donated use of a 4000 square foot space to New Hope Arts to create a contemporary arts center in downtown New Hope. The building has provided New Hope Arts with the opportunity to establish year round programs and to create a lasting impression on the cultural future of the region. Now through the continued support of the Scannapieco's and the generosity of community members New Hope Arts has begun the process of purchasing the building.

With the de-emphasizing of arts funding by government and the competitive field for gaining foundation funding, the role of community support has become more critical than ever to the survival of American culture. Today, small businesses and individuals have great power in shaping the cultural environment in which they live and work.

New Hope named #1 Arts Destination in the Country, citing New Hope Arts' Outdoor Sculpture Exhibition. American Style

"an excellent ambassador for the cultural vibrancy that can be found in the greater Philadelphia region." Pennsylvania Governor Ed Rendell

"It's significant to find a new formed art organization able to mount a sculpture show of this size and complexity, one that manages so accurately to reflect the interests and pulse of contemporary society. New Hope Arts Inc. is a name to remember."
